AN AWFUL DEATH.

A Negro Ravisher Burned at the Stake.

An Electric Light Superintendent Killed by a Shock.

Fatal Result of Using the Alleged "Elixir of Life."

Mysterious Case of an American Who Has Been for Months a Close Prisoner in Ecuador.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The Courier-Journal's special from Somerset says: William Oates, a prominent and wealthy farmer, residing a few miles from Monticello, left home on business with his wife, and left his two young daughters in charge of the house. Oates had in his employ a negro boy, nearly full grown. Knowing that the older people were away, he entered the house and, after locking the door upon the two young girls, succeeded in ravishing the youngest, aged 12. The other girl escaped from the room and, going to a neighbor's house, gave the alarm.

A posse was immediately organized and started in pursuit of the negro. He was caught in the woods and tied to a stake. A rail pen was then built around him. Coal oil was poured over him and upon the rails. A match was applied and the negro was burned to death.

THE DRESSED BEEF TRADE.

How it Has Demoralized the Market for Live Cattle.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The Senate Committee to investigate relative rates on dressed beef and live cattle met here today. Senators Vest, Coke and Farwell were present. Railroad managers were called to testify as to proper rates. Elgin dairymen testified that the dressed-beef business has entirely changed conditions. Local butchers no longer slaughtered cattle, but bought dressed beef in Chicago. Cattle, to be sold, must be shipped to Chicago. The price of cattle had greatly depreciated, but there was no reduction in the price of beef.

Mr. Larkin of Elgin read figures showing an alleged decline in the price of live cattle since the year 1880 from $34.75 per hundred weight to $18.04. Then he took a slap at the railroads. He complained that the dealers throughout the country were refusing to buy live stock, preferring to order dressed beef from Chicago. The idea brought out was that the freight tariff on live stock was higher than that on dressed beef. Thus the smaller dealers considered it to their advantage to buy in Chicago, and this, according to Mr. Larkin's notion, left to Chicago the control of the live-stock market.

A number of other witnesses, principally commission men at the Union Stock Yards, were examined tonight. Thomas Brown, a dealer in export cattle, said: "Years ago we had plenty of buyers, and if a man couldn't get his figure here he went on to New York or Albany. The railroads stopped this by crushing out these shippers, and the wrecks of many of them are to be seen about the stock yards today. The dressed-beef trade has killed the live cattle dealers." Brown said the dressed-beef men were not frightened by pleuro-pneumonia, because Europe would not take live cattle. The price went down, and they were benefited accordingly. Portions of beef that could not be disposed of otherwise, he said, were used in canning.

A FATAL SHOCK.

An Electric-light Superintendent Instantly Killed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Darwin A. Henry, superintendent of construction for the East River Electric Light Company, was instantly killed this afternoon by a charge of electricity in the company's factory. Henry was standing on a step-ladder changing wires on a switch board, when suddenly he was seen to totter and then fall to the floor. Flesh on his right hand and fingers was burnt to the bone. The left hand was slightly scorched, and on the left elbow there was an imprint of the wire. Dr. Henderson was immediately summoned from Bellevue Hospital. He pronounced Henry pulseless, and said he had no doubt the shock caused instant death.

AN ELIXIR OF DEATH.

Fatal Result of Using the Brown-Sequard Remedy.

DAYTON (O.), Sept. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Samuel C. Showalter, aged 69, voluntarily submitted to an injection of "elixir of life," three weeks ago, hoping for relief from rheumatism, and died from the effects of the treatment. Immediately after the injection his limbs began to swell, and his whole system was permeated with blood poison. Gangrene set in and the flesh chipped off in flakes as large as a man's hand, and he became a horrible object before death.

A Tough Citizen Shot.

DENNISON (Tex.), Sept. 2.—Jim Dyer, one of the most notorious desperadoes in the West of Indian Territory, was shot and mortally wounded yesterday at the mouth of Allen Bayou by John McHenry. Dyer was riding up and down the street, past McHenry's house, with his rifle in his hand. Some words passed between the two men, when McHenry shot Dyer. Dyer and his brothers were expelled from Texas some years ago, for shooting an officer in Fanning county. They were also implicated in the murder of the Sheriff of Lamar county. A mob hanged one of the brothers.

Saloon Men Win.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—Judge Boland of the Police Court today handed down a decision of the test case made by the saloon men on the validity of the penalty clause of the Sunday law. The law is a city measure, and requires the trial judge to revoke the license of every saloon-keeper convicted of selling liquor on Sunday. The city ordinance confers the power to revoke licenses upon such judges. Judge Boland in his opinion holds that the ordinance and therefore the law is unconstitutional, and dismissed the cases of 15 saloon men. The City Attorney will appeal.

Naval Officers Banqueted.

FORT MONROE (Va.), Sept. 2.—Commander A. C. Kellogg and officers of the United States steamer Ossipee were given a handsome banquet at Hygiea Hotel by William P. Clyde of the City Line steamers, for their gallant action in rescuing the steamer Ozama from the Legitime authorities at Port-au-Prince, six weeks ago. A number of prominent army and navy officers and civilians were present.

THE COUNCIL.

AN INTERESTING MEETING YESTERDAY.

Official Count of the Sewer-bond Election—The Law-makers Will Get Up Other Plans at Once—Reports of Various Committees—South Side Irrigation Company to the Front.

The City Council met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, with President Frankenfield and Councilmen Wirsching, Summerland, McLain, Van Dusen, Hamilton, Shafer, Bonsall and Brown present.

A communication was received from Mayor Hazard, returning without his approval an ordinance establishing the grade of First street along a certain portion of its length, the veto being made on account of a clerical error in the name of one of the streets. The veto was sustained, and a new ordinance was presented by the City Engineer, and adopted.

A communication from the Mayor was received, returning without his approval a demand of C. E. Crowley, on the ground that the demand should have been made to Boyes and Crowley. The veto was sustained and the matter referred back to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Mesmer addressed the Council on the sewer question. He said that the time had been so short since the election that the committee of 36 had not all got together yet; but that by Monday next a plan for sewers would be formulated, which, he thought, would meet the approval of the people and the Council.

The Council then proceeded to canvass the election returns for the sewer and school bonds, as follows:

Necessary majority, 2087½.

The President announced that, the necessary two-thirds majority having been received, the school bonds had carried.

The Clerk read the bids received for the receiving and disbursing the city money as follows:

National Bank of California, 1-6 of 1 per cent. per month, or 2 per cent. a year.

Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, ⅓ of 1 per cent. per month, or 3 per cent. a year.

President Frankenfield (on the floor) moved that the bids be referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Bonsall moved to amend that the Finance Committee report today and save a week's interest. He received no second to the motion, and the bids were referred in accordance with President Frankenfield's motion.

The various recommendations of the Board of Public Works, heretofore published, were approved.

An ordinance amendatory of the ordinance regulating fast driving was made the special order for 2 o'clock.

An ordinance granting the right of way over certain streets to the Los Angeles and Pacific Railroad was read; also a protest from property-owners against the granting of the right of way and a petition from other property-owners asking that it be granted.

The bond of the company for $10,000 was presented and approved. Judge Fitzgerald addressed the Council in favor of the franchise and Mr. Holton for the protestants. The ordinance granting the franchise was then adopted.

Ex-Senator Cole addressed the Council against the proposed grade of Bellevue avenue, claiming that it would be a great injury to the city.

Recess until 2 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

At 2 o'clock President Frankenfield took the chair and called the Council to order, a majority of the members being in their seats, and, after the calling of the roll, the special order for 2 o'clock, the ordinance recommended at the last meeting of the Board of Public Works, regulating the speed at which vehicles may be driven through the public streets, fixing the limits at nine miles an hour, and providing that it shall not apply to members of the fire department answering an alarm and employés of cable and street railways going to attend a break, was laid before the Council.

Mr. Shafer wanted physicians also excepted from the provisions of the ordinance, but Mr. Wirsching opposed it, Mr. Bonsall, however, favoring it.

Mr. Brown thought certain streets should be set apart for fast driving, as he had a fast horse that he liked to drive.

Mr. Shafer then presented an amendment excepting physicians and those going for a physician, but this failed for want of a second, and the rules were suspended and the ordinance as read passed, only Mr. Wirsching voting in the negative.

The report of the Board of Public Works was then read, [illegible] recommendations, as published in THE TIMES, [illegible] adopted.

The recommendation that the franchise for the Second-street cable road to the western city limits [illegible] granted had been omitted from the report, and the matter was then called up by Mr. Bonsall, who said that the application was an old one, that everything about it was regular and that it should be passed.

The Clerk then read the ordinance, when Mr. McLain put in a protest against granting the franchise unless Mr. McLaughlin would pledge himself to remove the dummy track on Temple street.

Mr. McLaughlin was then invited to address the Council, when he said that he favored taking up the Temple-street track, if he could get proper facilities elsewhere. He could not, however, guarantee that the track would be removed, as he was only a stockholder and could not, as the representative of one corporation, make promises for another.

Mr. Bonsall thought that each road should stand on its own bottom, and that Mr. McLaughlin was entitled to the franchise for which he asked.

Mr. Wirsching favored granting the franchise, but he also wanted the Temple-street track removed.

After some further general debate, the franchise was referred back to the Board of Public Works for another week to have the necessary changes made.

The report of the City Attorney was read and the various recommendations adopted.

The City Engineer presented his weekly report, which was adopted.

The Street Superintendent reported that the Kuhrts-street bridge needed replanking and re-covering at once, which matter was referred to the Bridge Committee. The Street Superintendent asked for 10 days' leave of absence from the 6th inst., which was granted.

Ordinances of intention for the regrading of Courthouse street, Bunker Hill avenue and Hope street were read, when the rules were suspended and the ordinances passed.

An ordinance of intention for the opening and widening of Second street, from Main street to Santa Fé avenue, was read, and passed under a suspension of the rules, as was also the ordinance for the opening and widening of Third street from Main to Alameda.

The ordinance regulating processions through the public streets of Los Angeles, with brass bands or other music, in line with the resolution introduced by Mr. Bonsall at the last meeting, requiring a permit for all processions, was then taken up, and Mr. Hamilton declared himself in opposition to the ordinance, claiming that it practically legislated the Salvation Army out of existence, and claiming that every one had a right to worship as they saw fit.

After brief remarks a vote was taken, and the ordinance failed to pass, receiving but 5 votes, and 4 against it, Messrs. Hamilton, Shafer, McLain and VanDusen voting in the negative.

The ordinance providing for the employment of a woman by the Police Commissioners, at a salary of $50 per month, to look after wayward girls, was taken up and passed, only President Frankenfield and Mr. Summerland voting against it.

The amended "cow ordinance," providing for sale yards, was passed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. VanDusen offered the following resolution, which was, on his motion, referred to the Committee on Sewers:

WHEREAS, by an election held on the 30th day of August, 1889, the people by their vote did reject the issuing of bonds for the sum of $1,300,000, to be used in constructing an internal system of sewerage in this city, and an outfall sewer to the Pacific Ocean; but by so doing this Council does not believe that the people meant to be understood as not to be in favor of some system of sewerage for the city, but upon the contrary, as promulgated by the public press of the city, and as uttered by many public speakers who have spoken upon the subject, we are of the opinion that the public generally are desirous of a system of sewerage that will be adequate to meet all of the requirements of the city for many years to come, that will be less expensive; and

WHEREAS, the members of this Council were elected to office upon the express understanding that they would present to the people a plan for an outfall sewer to the ocean, and they believing that they have presented such a route that is feasible and less expensive than any other route to be had to accomplish that end, this Council cannot believe that the people rejected the proposition upon the ground that they were not in favor of an outfall to the sea; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the City Engineer be instructed to present to this Council an interior plan or system for sewering the city, costing not less than $500,000 nor more than $600,000, that shall be in accord with the above preamble as soon as it shall be possible for him so to do.

Mr. Brown introduced the following, which went to the Sewer Committee without discussion:

WHEREAS, the people of the city of Los Angeles, at an election held on the 30th inst., did by their vote declare that they were not in favor of the system of sewerage as there presented to them by an ordinance of this Council; but this Council believes that by the rejection of such system the people did not declare that they were not in favor of some system of sewerage, that perhaps would be more economical and answer all the requirements of the city for many years to come; believing also that it would be for the best interests of all parties concerned for this Council to again present to the people as soon as practicable a modified system of sewerage for their consideration and approval, and believing for the accomplishment of this purpose it would be right and proper for us to consult with the citizens of this city outside of this body, of whom we are but servants; therefore, be it

Resolved, that the President of this Council designate or appoint a consulting or advisory committee, to consist of 19 persons, selecting two from each ward in the city and one at large, to formulate and present to this Council a plan of sewerage which in their judgment would be the most feasible for this Council to present to the people for their approval.

Mr. Shafer stated that he had a resolution which he wanted read, that had been handed in at the morning session by some unknown person. He said that he did not know who had presented it, but he wanted it read and referred to the Sewer Committee, which was done. The resolution is as follows:

WHEREAS, there is an almost universally-admitted necessity for a better sewer system for this city, even on the part of those who opposed the issue of bonds at the recent election; and whereas, it is the desire and intention of this Council to carry out the will of the people whenever it is ascertained; therefore,

Resolved, that the City Engineer be, and he is hereby, instructed to submit new and modified plans for a sewer system, upon the basis of a population of 200,000, and at the earliest day.

Mr. Frankenfield offered the following, which was referred to the Sewer Committee, as the others had been:

WHEREAS, the voters at the election held on the 30th day of August for or against the issue of bonds for the purpose of building a system of sewers for the city of Los Angeles, including an outfall to the Pacific Ocean, rejected the same; and whereas, many of our citizens object to the outfall sewer to the sea, as well as the storm-water drains, or combination sewers, and insist that the sewage of our city should be utilized; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the City Clerk advertise for bids in the Los Angeles Daily Herald for two weeks for any person or corporation who will agree to take the city's sewage at the following points at the city's limits: First, all the sewage from East Los Angeles and Boyle Heights, at a point on the east side of the Los Angeles River at the southern city limits; second, all the sewage delivered in the sewer to be constructed on Alameda street to the south city line; third, all the sewage delivered in sewer to be constructed to a point near the southwest corner of the city limits. The parties bidding agreeing to enter into sufficient bonds to the city to take all sewage delivered at the points named for all time.

Resolved, that the City Engineer be and is hereby ordered to prepare plans, specifications and estimates for a system of sewers for the city, leaving off all storm-water drains and combination sewers, and submit the same to the City Council at the earliest practicable moment.

Resolved, further, that it is the intention of this Council to again submit the question of issuing bonds for the purpose of building a sewer system for this city, either with or without an outfall sewer to the sea, at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. Bonsall then read the following resolution, which was referred to the Sewer Committee:

WHEREAS, an efficient sewerage system, based upon practical, scientific and economic principles is of paramount importance to this city; and,

WHEREAS, various plans are suggested, and honest differences of opinion prevail as to the best methods; and, believing that the work should be entered upon at as early a day as possible; therefore, be it

Resolved, that a commission of 15 citizen freeholders be appointed to investigate all plans and propositions pertaining to the subject, and to report the result of their investigations, with recommendations, to this Council.

Resolved, second, that the following-named persons be, and are hereby, appointed to constitute said commission: J. Frankenfield, Andrew Glassell, Fred Eaton, George Hansen, W. F. Fitzgerald, C. M. Wells, H. Newman, W. H. Workman, Dr. H. Sinsabaugh, J. F. Humphreys, E. A. Forester, Dr. J. L. Davis, J. C. Murray, A. Vinette and G. H. Bonebrake.

Mr. Bonsall stated that the names appended were merely to give an idea of the sort of commission that he favored, but that any changes that might be made would be acceptable to him.

This closed up the sewer business, and the report of the Finance Committee was then taken up, and the various recommendations adopted.

The Building Committee presented a report, recommending that the new City Hall building be accepted, which report was adopted.

The City Clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for the lease of reservoir site No. 7.

Mr. Wirsching moved that the various commissions should confine themselves to the amounts appropriated for them, but when informed that this had been done, withdrew his motion.

On motion of Mr. Van Dusen, the Street Superintendent was instructed to present some plan for draining the approaches to the different bridges in East Los Angeles.

On motion of Mr. Hamilton, the Health Officer was requested to abate a nuisance, consisting of a dairy on Martin street, at once.

On motion of Mr. Summerland, the City Attorney was instructed to commence condemnation proceedings for the opening of Chavez street.

The Street Superintendent's safe and the De Los Posas bridge matter, about which there had been a great deal of talk, were again taken up, and the bills paid.

A number of bids were presented and referred to the Board of Public Works.

Notice was given that a meeting of the Sewer Committee will be held next Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the large room adjoining the Mayor's office, to which meeting all persons having propositions or information to offer are invited.

The usual bundle of petitions were referred to appropriate committees without reading.

The following communication was read and referred to the Sewer Committee:

A NEW TRIAL.

FRANK E. ROSE TO HAVE ANOTHER CHANCE.

Judge Cheney Grants Him a New Trial.—The Judge's Opinion.—What Constitutes a Banking Game.

Frank E. Rose, convicted recently of the buncoing of Judge John B. Haskins of New York, was yesterday granted a new trial by Judge Cheney, Department No. 1 of the Superior Court. It gives him another chance to keep from behind the walls of San Quentin. The case has taken its place in the list of interesting trials, and it was supposed that the conviction settled it. Rose was feeling very jubilant yesterday over the decision of the Court. The opinion of Judge Cheney in the matter was as follows:

"Defendant was convicted upon an information charging him with cheating and defrauding one Haskins out of the sum of $130 by means of a certain game, commonly known as bunco, played, etc., with cards. Upon the trial the testimony of one Metzler was admitted over the persistent objections of the defendant. Practically his testimony was that of an expert on the game of bunco. He was permitted to describe the game as he had seen it played, and as he himself had played it. Bunco being the means alleged by which Haskins was said to have been cheated and defrauded, the Court considered the question as to what constituted the game of bunco to be one of fact for the jury, and in so doing endeavored, perhaps ill-advisedly, to follow the rule laid down in People vs. Ar Qon et al. (56 Cal. 194), in which the Court says:

"'No expert had sworn that there could be two dealers in one game of tan; and if an expert had so sworn, the Court would not have been justified in assuming that the witness testified to the truth, nor was the game fully explained by the witnesses, or its peculiarities agreed upon. Unless, therefore, the Court could take judicial notice of its constituent elements, and was also authorized to inform the jury as to what they were, it was error to charge the jury that there might be one game of tan conducted by two dealers at two tables, and at the same time.'

"The Court felt authorized by this rule in declaring the question one of fact and not of law.

"See also People vs. Sam Lung (70 California 515), in which case a witness was called who testified as to the game he saw played, and then another witness who had the game as played presented to him, said: 'That is tan.'

"Such testimony was considered proper, and hence the Court felt justified in pursuing a similar course in this case. Whatever may be the individual view or opinion of what the law ought to be, on the part of the nisi prius Judge, he is, it seems to the Court, bound to drink at the fountain head of law in the State, and follow conscientiously and respectfully the abler and better digested opinions of the Supreme Court.

"In the People vs. Carroll, published at about the time of the commencement of the trial of Rose in this court, the Supreme Court appear to have laid down a different rule, at least we feel bound to consider the opinion of five of the Justices of the Supreme Court as the establishment of a rule.

"In that case, while it is true that the judgment was reversed because of an apparent insufficiency of the information, yet the Court expresses a decided opinion as to the competency of such testimony as was admitted in this case.

"The code, after enumerating certain games by name which, played in a certain manner, would constitute sufficient ground for prosecution, concludes by saying: 'Or any banking or percentage game,' etc. The charge in the case of Carroll was that of playing a banking game commonly known as the wheel of fortune. A witness was sworn who testified to the definition of 'banking game,' and the Court says thereon as follows:

"'We find it unnecessary to determine whether the witness was competent to give an opinion on the subject or not. The question whether the game played was a banking game or not was one of law, for the Court, and we find that the definition given by the witness of a banking game was substantially correct and such as the Court should have given in its charge to the jury. He described the game as follows:

"'A banking game, as I understand it, is a game conducted by one or more persons where there is a fund against which everybody has a right to bet, the bank being responsible for the payment of all the funds, taking all that is won and paying out all that is lost. The fund which is provided for that purpose is generally called the bank, and the person who conducts it the banker.

"'We take this to be a sufficiently accurate definition of a banking game, and as the Court should have so charged the jury as matter of law, the fact that the Court permitted the definition to be given by a witness and instructed the jury that it was a question of fact for them to determine could have done the appellant no harm.

"'The Court of Appeals of Kentucky speaks of "banking games, such as faro, roulette and other games where there is a fund of money offered and ready to be staked on all bets others may choose to make against the banker on the game which he shall exhibit to entice bets." (Ritte vs. Commonwealth, 18 B. Mon., 40; Bishop on Statutory Crimes, sec. 866.)

"'But if this were not so this Court has held in a late case that the kind of game that was being played might be proved in the mode adopted and followed in this case. (People vs. Sam Lung, 70 Cal., 515.)

"'We do not concur in the view, however, that one witness can describe the game and another can be allowed to testify that, from that description, the game was a banking game or any other. We think a person who knows the game may testify in general terms what the game he witnessed was. If not familiar with the game, he may describe it, and the Court should instruct the jury as to what constitutes the game charged to have been played or conducted, leaving the jury to determine whether the game played was the one charged or not. To leave the question open, to be proved or disproved, in every case by experts, would lead to great uncertainty in the administration of justice.

"'For the insufficiency of information, the judgment and order are reversed and the cause remanded.

"'J. WORKS,
"'J. SHARPSTEIN.
"'C. J. BEATTY.'

CONCURRING OPINIONS.

"'I concur in the judgment.

"'PATERSON, J.'

"I concur in the judgment on the first point discussed in the opinion. I find no other error in the record.

"'THORNTON, J.'

"'I concur in the judgment on the first ground mentioned in the opinion of Mr. Justice Works, and I also concur in what is said in that opinion on the subject of venue. I do not concur, however, in the other parts of that opinion. I think that the testimony of Judge Terry was not only erroneously admitted, but was also important and material in the case. The Court evidently did not know what a banking game was, as appears from its instructions to the jury, and the witness, although not an expert (except as to matters of law), was called to inform the Court and jury on that subject. But that was really informing the Court what the law was. And if the provision of the statute in question was so indefinite that the Court could not tell the jury what facts would constitute a crime under it—that is, what the law of the case was—without the aid of a witness to tell it, then no conviction could be had under it. How would it look for a court to allow witnesses to testify what constitutes "larceny" or "burglary" or "embezzlement"? Of course, there are many well-known games which are designated in the statute by specific names; but that the general term, "banking game," has no definite meaning strikingly appeared on the trial of this case; because, first, the witnesses who were erroneously examined on the subject differed in their opinions; and second, the Court itself did not know what it meant. Can a man be held to answer a criminal charge upon such a vague accusation? And the evils suggested as likely to arise from this view can be easily remedied. If the Legislature desires to make the playing of "a banking game" a crime, let it simply put into the statute what it means by that term, so that the Court can tell the jury what constitutes the offense.

"'MCFARLAND, J.'

"In this case of Rose, the Court, as it believed, consistently with the practice in such cases, allowed Metzler to testify, which he did, among other things, as follows, to wit:

"'It generally takes three men to start a game. The first one, after the victim is picked out, he finds his antecedents, his name and his relatives, and where he is from. After he is sufficiently conversant with the antecedents of the person, his family and so on, he communicates to what we call the capper. The capper introduces himself as a relative of some friend or some relative of his. That is a part of the game——' and then proceeded to describe a game with all its surroundings.

"Counsel for the defense moved to strike out all this on the ground that it was testimony as to matters occurring before a game commences, but the Court, upon witness's statement that it constituted a part of the game, refused the motion.

"If the Court understands correctly, and it believes it does, the rule in the Carroll case, it has erred in treating the quality and quantity of the game of bunco as a question of fact.

"If it be said that the opinion expressed in Carroll's case is but a dictum, yet must this Court says that that which four learned Justices of the Supreme Court say in substance is unjust, must be considered as inadmissible against a defendant. The question whether bunco was a game within the meaning of section 332, P. C., or not, or whether it was a game played with cards or not, must in this view of the law be a question for the Court.

"The testimony of Metzler could not have failed to prejudice the rights of the defendant, because the witness was, as appears from his other testimony in the case, familiar with the alleged facts in the case on trial, and his use of words in explaining the game of bunco, his description of surroundings, was but a verbal photograph of the other testimony in the case.

"But there is another, and it appears to the Court fatal, error in the admission of the deposition of Haskins.

"When testimony is taken down in shorthand at a preliminary examination, the code provides that 'the transcript of the reporter appointed as aforesaid, when written out in longhand writing and certified as being a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings in the case, shall be prima facie a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings.'

"The certificate in this case attached to the deposition of Haskins, after reciting his appointment as shorthand reporter, is as follows, to wit: 'That I did take down in shorthand all the testimony and proceedings in the examination of said cause, and that the foregoing is a full, true and correct transcript of the same.'

"The Court had some doubts as to the sufficiency of the certificate until upon examination of People vs. Riley (75 Cal., 101), in which the certificate, reading as follows, was held to be sufficient:

"'I hereby certify the foregoing to be a correct transcript of the examination in the above entitled case. The word "transcript" has a plain and well understood meaning. It is defined in Webster as a "copy." The word itself means "written over" or "written again" hence there must have been an original of which the transcript is a copy. The rule in Riley's case seemed to give an enlarged meaning to the word "transcript"—hence this Court applied that meaning to the word as it occurred in the certificate on file and held it to mean "statement."'

"In the People vs. Carty (19 Pacific Reporter 491), the Court has clearly and plainly declared what the certificate must contain:

"Says the Court: 'What the statute requires the certificate to state is plainly written. It must state that the transcript is a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings.' In other words, there must be an affirmation by the reporter not merely of the transcribing from the original notes, but also that such notes were correct. The certificate before us relates simply to the correctness of the transcribing. It is not upon such evidence as this that a man can be deprived of his life or liberty.

"The certificate in that case was much wider of the mark than this, for it simply certified that 'the foregoing is a full, true and correct transcript of the shorthand notes taken by me herein,' but what more is certified here? Nothing, except that he took down all the testimony and proceedings in shorthand, and the foregoing is a full, true and correct transcript of the same.

"He may have taken down all the testimony and much more. He may have made running comments—non constat.

"The testimony before the magistrate was oral, the only substantive to which 'same' in connection with 'transcript' could relate is 'shorthand.' It is true that the word 'same' relates to the next antecedent, but it is not confined to a mere word; it must apply to the subject matter antecedent. What is it in this case? Simply 'I took down all the testimony, etc., in shorthand, and this is a correct copy of it—the shorthand.'

"It is probably, undoubtedly, not intentionally so, an evasive certificate. He nowhere says that he correctly took down in shorthand the evidence. It might without much straining refer to either; hence, for the purpose of a certificate upon which a man's liberty depends, it refers to neither.

"To certify is to render certain by a written statement; if the certificate itself is uncertain, it cannot certainly lend the strength of certainty to the deposition.

"As without this deposition it is probable there would have been no conviction, I feel compelled to grant a new trial."

SANTA MONICA.

How Things are Progressing at the Soldiers' Home.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 2.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Your reporter today paid a visit to the Soldiers' Home and found everything progressing as well as could be desired. Barrack No. 4 has been completed and is now occupied, the first floor having been turned into the hospital, in preference to the quarters in Barrack No. 2. The commissary reports an average daily attendance of 332 throughout the month, and states that there are 18 hospital patients, of whom only 7, however, are confined to their rooms. Gov. Treichel's residence is completed and is now awaiting the arrival of the furniture. Dr. Hasse's house is inhabited, but work has not yet been commenced on the treasurer's abode. It is not thought that the $300,000 that is to be asked for at next Congress will be sufficient, for there are 21 more barracks to be built and also the headquarters, commissariat and other adjunctory structures.

The warm wave is having a good effect as far as Santa Monica is concerned, for people who were beginning to think that the season was over have altered their plans and will remain another few weeks. The Arcadia is, of course, sharing in the good luck and the vacant rooms will soon be occupied.

As soon as legal redress could be obtained this morning, the managers of North Beach applied to the courts and raised their attachment, the result being that everything is in full swing again.

Mr. W. E. Robinson returned yesterday from a trip through the north. He states that Seattle and Ellenburg are fast building up again, and that the mammoth hotel started at Portland by Henry Villard is under construction again, and will, it is expected, be opened in February next.

Lieut. Inglis of H.M. Naval Service is domiciled at the Arcadia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Coakley returned to town today.

Mr. C. B. Wilgres of St. Paul is at the Arcadia.

This beautiful book is the most practical work of the kind that has ever been printed and will be warmly welcomed by our readers. Its author has had a long and extended experience in artistic needlework, and in this volume she has carefully set forth the results of her study and labor in this fascinating department of art.

She has illustrated her work by means of COLORED PLATES, each one of which is made directly from the piece of embroidery which it represents. On one page of the book she shows an outline pattern of the leaves, and on the opposite page is a beautiful COLORED PLATE showing the pattern as it appears after it has been properly worked. This plate shows the exact colors that were used in doing the work, and the outline pattern is lettered and numbered, and the author gives full directions for working the colors.

THERE ARE EIGHT OF THESE COLORED PLATES, AS FOLLOWS:

Autumn Leaves, Tulips,

THE street-railway lines of Indianapolis, desiring an extension of their franchises, have presented the city with a 200-acre park. That is a legitimate sort of bribery.

ONE of the noteworthy features of the great London strikes is the public sympathy expressed for the strikers by such prominent ecclesiastics as Cardinal Manning and Canon Liddon.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to correct a statement, which, he states, he made in THE TIMES a short time ago, to the effect that Hon. John B. Haskins of bunco fame was formerly a member of the United States Senate. Mr. Haskins was a member of the House.

Two bids for the receipt and disbursement of the city's funds were announced in the Council today, one of 2 per cent. a year, the other of 3. The bids were referred to the Finance Committee, a motion by Mr. Bonsall to have that committee report at once, so as to save interest, not being entertained. Had the city money been placed at interest, when it should have been, there would now be a nice little sum in the treasury, which has gone into the pockets of individuals.

MINISTER SWIFT is earning golden opinions in Japan. Here is what Rear Admiral Belknap, commanding the Asiatic fleet, says of him and his family:

The Swifts are very popular, and in their entertainments they spare no pains or expense. Mrs. Swift is a lady of the most regal presence, while her sister, Mrs. Bailey, is the prettiest woman in Japan. The Minister himself is a very able man—in my opinion a better appointment could not have been made. Mr. Swift is thoroughly American in all his ways and opinions, and I regard him as the ablest man in the Diplomatic Corps of all the powers represented at the court of Japan.

IN the City of Mexico the income from the taxation of liquors and the license on saloons is very large, indeed. Every liquor and pulque shop pays a monthly license. In addition to the license fees on saloons, an octroi, or entry tax, is collected on all pulque coming within the city limits. For the fiscal year just ended this gate tax amounted to the sum of $560,000, or more than $1500 a day. The pulque shops open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and not one of them has a back door.

THE "outside papers," which we were told were going to form such very unfavorable opinions of Los Angeles, from the defeat of the sewer bonds, seem, on the contrary, to appreciate the true condition of affairs very thoroughly, if we may judge from the following sensible article in the San Francisco Examiner:

Los Angeles has rejected the proposition to issue bonds for the construction of an outfall sewer to the sea. The alternative to this plan, in the minds of those who voted against the bonds, is the establishment of a sewer farm. The latter scheme appears to us decidedly the better of the two. Drainage into the ocean is always wasteful, and in the case of Los Angeles it would have the additional disadvantage of polluting the beach, and the whole coast in that region is destined to be one extended pleasure resort. For San Francisco, at present, the plan of throwing away at great expense material which ought to bring in a handsome return seems to be the only one immediately practicable. But Los Angeles is under no such hard necessity. Its sewage can be as easily deposited on a farm at a safe distance from the city as in the sea, and instead of calling for constant outlays it will bring in a profit, not merely in present cash but in the permanent improvement of the soil. The growth of Los Angeles is just beginning. A rational sewer system can be established there now without difficulty, and it can be gradually developed to keep pace with the city's advance. That is an important consideration when we think of the cost and labor that would be required to remodel the drainage of a metropolis of half a million people. It is well enough [illegible] to remember that the soil of this country is not inexhaustible, and that we [illegible] shall do whatever we conveniently [illegible] to impoverishment.

THE ELECTION FOR SUPERVISOR.

Today the voters of a portion of this city and county are once more called to the polls, the occasion being the election of a Supervisor for the Fifth District, which includes all of the city lying north of Temple and Mission streets, South Pasadena, Garvanza and the San Fernando Valley. Mr. Hubbard, the Republican candidate, is a substantial citizen and rancher of the San Fernando Valley, who will make a first-class Supervisor.

An important point for Republicans to consider is that the Board of Supervisors now stands two to two, as far as politics goes, and that the election today will, therefore, turn the scale, deciding whether the county legislature is to be politically Republican or Democratic for the remainder of the term. The Democrats are thoroughly aware of this fact, and will consequently leave no stone unturned today to elect their man. Therefore, let all Republicans of the Fifth District turn out and vote for Hubbard for Supervisor.

RECLAIM THE DESERTS.

The Senate Committee on Arid Lands had another busy day yesterday, visiting Riverside, San Bernardino and the country round about. At Riverside, which may perhaps be considered the most striking example in the United States of the benefits of irrigation, much valuable testimony was taken, a report of which will be found in our columns. Here they saw lands which without irrigation were worth only from $3 to $4 an acre, but with water are worth from $300 to $400. The committee has now left for Arizona by way of San Diego, taking Santa Ana in the way.

What little has been seen by the Senators of this section during their hasty trip cannot have failed to impress them with the marvelous changes effected by water on an arid soil. We look for a very interesting report from this committee to the Senate, and for favorable action by Congress upon the showing which they will be able to make. Without doubt this is the most important material subject now before the American people. It is of prime importance to the Great West, to that vast area west of the 98th meridian; but it is of hardly less consequence to the people of the whole country, for where shall new homes be made for the teeming populations of the East, if not on the now arid but essentially fertile lands which lie in the belt of insufficient rainfall?

THE SEWER QUESTION — WHAT SHOULD BE DONE.

The Ballona boomers do not seem disposed to throw up the sponge gracefully. Their chief "orgin" is full of grave apprehension lest serious inconvenience should be suffered by the city from inability to dispose of the sewage. The diphtheria bug-a-boo is, for a time, laid aside, and we are asked to contemplate the horrible prospect of being forced to wade in sewage, without any storm boots.

It is currently reported that the reason for this renewed solicitude is to be found in a project of the plungers to make another attempt to force through their pet scheme, this time shorn of the storm-drain provision. They are said to cherish the belief that, by relinquishing this portion of their plan, they can get the voters to indorse the Ballona outfall project. If this report is true, it shows that these men have a very poor conception of the prevailing public sentiment among the citizens of Los Angeles—that they fail to perceive the true import of Friday's election. The citizens who voted at that election against the bonds did not protest specially against the storm-drains, or the Rose contract, but against the entire extravagant proposition of a costly sewer to the sea for the purpose of throwing away valuable fertilizing material and water, which, in this section, is worth more than land. No resubmission of the same project with some patches and excisions would stand the ghost of a chance. So far from public opinion having undergone a change in favor of the bonds since the election, we are confident that were the election to be held again today on the same grounds the bonds would not even obtain a plain majority. As the people can look back calmly on the danger they have just passed they more fully appreciate its gravity. In defeating the Ballona scheme we had a narrow escape from a tremendous and costly mistake. To attempt to tinker up this scheme and bring it again before the people is simply folly and waste of time.

At yesterday's Council session the following communication was read from the South Side Irrigation Company:

Gentlemen: At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the South Side Irrigation Company, held August 31, 1889, at which were present Directors Martz, Warfield, Whelan and Alward; absent, McDermott and Stewart; on motion of S. R. Warfield, seconded by W. W. Alward, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that it is to the best interests of this company to offer, and its president is hereby authorized to offer to the city of Los Angeles, for the period of 90 days from date, at cost, all the pipe lines, rights of way and franchise of this company, conditioned that it be released from all obligations of contract made with the city, and that for the next five years it be a preferred purchaser of fifty inches of summer water, at such rates as the city may sell the same.

H. MARTZ, President.
Attest: E. L. HOLBROOK, Secretary.

In conformity with the above the undersigned hereby offers to the city of Los Angeles for the period of 90 days from date its pipe lines, etc., at the following figures:

250 feet of 16-inch pipe at 53 cents	$ 132 50
6750 feet of 22-inch pipe at 97 cents	6,547 50
15,900 feet of 22-inch pipe, 4-foot digging, at 85 cents	13,515 00
3540 cubic yards deeper digging, at 25 cents	910 00
Rights of way and damages paid	710 00
Eleven wells at $32	352 00
Total	$22,167 00

Together with its franchise, rights of way, etc., conditioned as in the resolutions above set forth.

SOUTH SIDE IRRIGATION CO.,
By H. MARTZ, President.

As far as the acquisition of the South Side Company's franchise is concerned, it is quite probable that the city may find it desirable to buy out the concern, provided of course that the price is found to be reasonable. There should, however, be no "preference" of the South Side Company, in regard to the purchase of water. If the company gets the price it asks for its system, that should be enough. The city should carefully avoid tying itself up by any "preferences" whatever.

At yesterday's Council meeting several propositions were offered, having for their object the settlement of the sewer question. Some of them were good, others less so. Many people will now, doubtless, spring to the surface with plans for the disposing of our sewage, all being actuated by more or less praiseworthy and unselfish motives. While we do not desire to see a day unnecessarily wasted, in submitting a new plan for a sewer system, at the same time it must not be forgotten that, in a case like this, more haste may mean less speed. We want to be sure that a plan submitted to the people has a good chance of being approved, or much valuable time, together with considerable money, will again have been wasted.

The idea of a commission to investigate the subject and prepare a plan seems to be the fairest, to promise the best results, and to meet the most approval on part of the public. Mr. Bonsall suggests the appointment of a commission of 15 freeholders. In order to obtain a thorough and unprejudiced representation of the popular will, it might be well, first, to have a committee of—say five or ten—from each ward—45, or 90 in all—selected, these to choose a commission of—say one—for each ward, selected from their own number, or from the citizens at large. To these should be added—say half a dozen—specialists—two lawyers, two engineers and two physicians. This committee of 15 could sit continuously, receive and sift reports, propositions and suggestions, take testimony and frame a plan for a sewer system, much as the charter was framed by the Board of Freeholders. An executive committee of—say three—would be appointed and designated to draft the final plan and submit the same to the committee. The work completed, the proposed plan would be submitted to the Council for approval, and, if approved, they could then call an election.

In this manner we believe that a full discussion of the subject could be had, and a proper understanding arrived at, without suspicion of undue influence on the part of those self-seeking persons, who are always ready to make public improvements subservient to their own greed.

SENATOR FRYE thinks the Bering Sea trouble will come out all right. He says:

"My own opinion is that that portion of the sea where the seal controversies are has always been a closed sea, so maintained for half a century without any protest on part of any nation. The United States and Great Britain did protest against the claims of Russia extending further southerly the closed sea. As between Great Britain and us the question ought not to be raised, because, if the sea waters are declared open waters, in less than five years the whole seal fishery would be destroyed, and England has as much interest in preserving that fishery as we have, for she purchases and prepares for the market all the skins that are taken."

THE citizens of Arizona are almost unanimous against Statehood for that Territory, believing that the population is not at present sufficient to bear the extra burden.

FLORIDA has $12,000,000 invested in the orange business, and the sales this year were one-fourth of that sum.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—The new dispensation of merriment will begin tomorrow evening at this theater in the production of Evans & Hoey's "farce comedy," entitled A Parlor Match, written and composed by Charles H. Hoyt, the perpetrator of a number of pieces of similar absurdity.

A SLEEP-WALKER.

His Midnight Prowlings Attract a Crowd.

Last night at 11:30 o'clock there was witnessed a somnambulistic sight on the southeast corner of First and Main streets which almost took the breath out of some of the passers-by on the other side of the street. The man evidently belonged to engine company No. 3, situated on South Main street near First. At the above-mentioned time a man whose outer clothing was not visible and whose dress was composed of a gray undershirt and drawers, climbed out of the side of the balcony on the second story of the front of the engine-house and proceeded to walk on the edge of the roof of the adjoining building. He walked about 25 feet, when he stopped and caught hold of a telegraph wire which was in front of him. He stood there about three minutes as if meditating what to do. He looked about him and after some gentleman on the opposite corner hollood out several times to attract his attention, he turned back and entered the engine-house, not giving the least sign of having heard the cries of the spectators.

THE TERRY KILLING.

Senator Wm. M. Stewart Set Right Regarding a Published Report.

The Fresno Expositor a few days since published a statement, which was copied into the Evening Express of yesterday, to the effect that Senator Stewart, while in that place with his Arid Lands Committee, had expressed the unqualified opinion that the act of Deputy Marshal Neagle in shooting Judge Terry was unjustifiable and indefensible. The publication having come to Senator Stewart's knowledge, upon his return to this city from Riverside, last evening, he said to a representative of THE TIMES that the statement was untrue; that he had expressed at Fresno no opinion upon the subject. He naturally objects to being put in a false position by incorrect publications.

At the County Jail.

Ed H. Cuffe, the pugilist, arrested at San Francisco in connection with the rape case in this city, was brought back last night and lodged in the County Jail.

R. H. Brown, the negro bill distributor, went into the room of the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon and raised a row. As he has been acting queerly for some time past, he was taken to the County Jail and locked up as insane.

Weise, the crazy Russian captured by the police early Sunday morning, was yesterday transferred to the County Jail.

THIEVES IN

A Batch of Bold [illegible] at Work.

Paul Waack of the H[illegible] Winery, on Banning street, reported at the police station yesterday morning that he had been visited by burglars in the early hours of the morning. But fortunately had not lost anything, he having paid a large bill on Saturday night that took about all of his spare cash. Mr. Waack has no fastenings on his windows, so that all the burglars had to do was to put up an old trunk against the side of the house, climb up to the window, push up the sash and go inside. They first entered the dining-room, and went directly to a small cabinet which stood in the corner of the apartment. It was in this cabinet that he generally kept his money, and from the fact that the thieves went directly to it leads Mr. Waack to believe that they were acquainted in some way about the house. They cut the lock out with a knife, but the money-drawer was empty, he having used the money, as above stated, Saturday night. Nothing else in the room was disturbed, although there was a lot of fine silverware on the table, which was left behind. Mr. Waack says that he had to get up with a sick child during the night, and he thinks that this must have frightened the burglars away. Detective Walter Auble is investigating the case.

During the day Mrs. A. Lawson, who lives at No. 522 San Pedro street, also reported at the station that she had been robbed of her purse, containing $5.85 and some papers, by a Chinaman several days ago. She said that she had suspected a Chinese vegetable peddler, who runs wagon No. 1413, but that she could not swear positively that he is the man. The police will also look him up.

Late in the afternoon Charles Schatte, who keeps a grocery at No. 551 East First street, reported that he had been robbed of $200 in gold coin and a pistol by a man who he had noticed hanging about the place for the past three or four days. Between 5 and 6 o'clock the man had managed to get upstairs to his living room, where the money was kept, and, after getting the booty, slipped out unobserved, and got away. He says that he will know the man if he ever sees him again, and Detective Bosqui spent several hours in walking about the city in company with Schatte looking for him, but up to a late hour no trace had been found of him.

Last night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, a telephone message was received at police headquarters, to send the patrol wagon to the corner of New High and Alpine streets. The wagon was sent out, and returned in about half an hour, bringing in a middle-aged German named Henry Hartmann, who was suffering from an ugly cut on the back of the head. Hartmann said that he lived with his married daughter on Montreal street, and had come down to purchase some working clothes, he having a situation with Mr. Bateman, on Orange street. After having made his purchases, he was returning home with his bundles under his arm, when some one came up behind him and struck him a severe blow on the back of the head, inflicting an ugly scalp wound and knocking him down. He had then been robbed of 95 cents which he had in a small box in one of his pockets, but he had [illegible] in another pocket which the thief did not get. Hartmann had not [illegible] and had his parcels with him. He was brought to the station. After having his head sewed up, Hartmann was sent home.

PERSONAL.

J. M. Davies, secretary of the State Board of Trade, who accompanied the Senate Arid Lands Committee down here from San Francisco and proved to be a host in himself, left them last night and took the 10:30 train for home.

A Singular Story.

Yesterday afternoon a young man named Le Brun, whose parents live at the corner of Winston and Wall streets, came to the police station, where he told a rather singular story. He said that his father was dying and that his mother, who was a member of the Salvation Army, refused to allow him and his brother to see him, as she wanted the Salvation Army to get the old man's property, and he wanted an officer sent down to preserve order while he saw his father. Chief Glass sent Officer Sanchez to the house, when Mrs. Le Brun consented to allow her sons to see their father, but insisted on the officer remaining during the interview. One of the Le Brun boys works on the Cienega ranch, and the other is a plumber in this city. The case will be further looked into.

Surrendered by His Bondsmen.

James Velsir, awaiting trial before the Superior Court, for an assault on his wife, was surrendered by his bondsmen yesterday. By some sort of arrangement, he was allowed to go free until today, when he promised to file a new bond.

Lost Chords.

Why heed we not the robin's song,
Whose echo is so loud and long,
Through tangled walk and way?
The common bush hath blossoms too;
A shadow 'gainst the enchanted blue,—
The lark flies as we stray.

Beside the river's silver sheen,
And in and out the walks of green,
At dawn or purple gloaming;
The lily bends its stately head,
The rose blooms on in white or red,
To grace the path we're roaming.

Why heed we not the look that lies,
So fond and true in friendship's eyes;
As careless on we go?
What should we liken it unto?
How give its worth a semblance true,
Of what we should bestow?

Why lose the charm of word that lifts,
The burdens from the heart, and rifts
That darkness left before?
On speech that makes our task so light
That sheds a glow o'er winter's night,
A light through memory's door

Why heed we not each one, and all,
Before it goes beyond recall,
And we hold vain regret?
The robin sings his song so loud,
Yet how few listen 'mong the crowd,
So soon the sun has set.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The great strike is still in force. There are signs of grumbling among the strikers over division of the relief funds, but the men generally stand firm.

Three thousand tailors struck this morning and are parading the streets.

Information is received by the police that Burns today urged the strikers to proceed to the docks and expel the men working there.

The dock companies are better satisfied with the aspect of affairs. They have increased the number of men at work, including some of the strikers. It is asserted there is a split amongst the strikers, and a small committee has been appointed looking to an abandonment of the strike.

The Rochester coal and barge men visited a large number of vessels on the river and forced the men to quit work.

A mob of eight hundred strikers invaded the Albert docks this afternoon and compelled the workmen to quit.

A deputation of ship-owners waited upon the officials of the dock companies and urged them to give the shippers the power to make their own arrangements with the men for discharge and loading of vessels.

DUNDEE, Sept. 2.—The Trades' Union Congress here adopted resolutions in sympathy with the strikers, and called upon the various trades in the United Kingdom to render all possible financial support.

GREAT SALE OF RACERS.

Before the racing began today Col. Bruce sold at public auction in the paddock adjoining the grand stand a number of thoroughbreds belonging to Bryant & Scoggan and the Locust stable. The star of the sale was the 3-year-old Proctor Knott, winner of last year's Futurity. The first bid was $10,000. Bidding went along at a lively clip until $17,000 was reached, at which figure he was sold to W. A. Ferris, who represented Mr. Scoggan. Mr. Scoggan thus become sole owner of the horse.

Details are as follows: Come-to-Taw, M. Kelly, $5250; Proctor Knott, W. A. Ferris, $1700; Robin Hood, Porter Ashe, $1900; Jakie Toms, D. A. Honig, $850; Hindocraft, G. R. Thirteen animals sold for a total of $48,185, an average of little over $3706 each. Before the bidding began Col. Bruce announced that the sale was to dissolve the partnership between Scoggan & Bryant. Some hours after the sale Scoggan called on Col. Bruce in the reporters' stand and announced that Ferris had bought Proctor Knott for his account. Sam Bryant could not then be found. Among horsemen generally the opinion was that Proctor Knott would in time be out in first-class condition, and that it would take a "cracker jack" to beat him next year.

VIRGINIA'S CLAIM.

The Old Dominion's Mortgage on the White House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] There is a mortgage on the White House. H. B. Harlow, secretary and treasurer of the Mt. Vernon-avenue Association, speaking of the project to build a new Executive Mansion, said: "I am glad to see the subject agitated, and I hope it will be taken up and pushed by Congress. When it is, our association, to which the Virginia Legislature has transferred its claim against the Government for money borrowed by Gen. Washington to build the present structure, will present that claim and ask for payment for the old before commencing the new.

"The claim, which is for $120,000, has never been denied by the Government, nor can it be, for we have the promise of the Government made through Washington to pay the money back to Virginia. We will not, perhaps, ask that the claim be paid in money, but will probably suggest that Congress defray the expense of building the proposed national highway to Mt. Vernon. If they agree we will transfer the Virginia mortgage on the White House as a contribution to the project."

A SAD CASE.

The Downfall of a Man with Two Wives.

The San Francisco Chronicle of Saturday has the following:

"When the big doors of San Quentin were opened yesterday to receive Charles L. Hamilton, the convicted bigamist, the guards bore the new recruit to the prison hospital instead of conducting him to a cell. The young man who is a custodian of the criminal department breathed a sigh of relief when he was relieved of his charge, and said, as he took the receipt for the prisoner, that he had passed through a most unpleasant experience.

"Few men suffer as did Hamilton for a few hours yesterday morning. He arrived in this city from San Bernardino in charge of Deputy Sheriff Mulcahy, a Riverside newspaper man, at 11 o'clock, and as fast as his frail condition would permit he was transferred to the ferry-boat Tiburon, which pulled out of her slip at 11:20 o'clock. Hamilton managed to walk on board the boat, but as soon as he reached the deck he dropped in a heap, trembling like a leaf and making the most pitiful efforts to breathe. He struggled to overcome the spell for a few moments, but, failing, fainted. Physicians who chanced to be on the boat were summoned, and did what they could to relieve his sufferings, but more than once the group that clustered about him on the lower deck thought him dead. When Tiburon was reached he was unable to walk, and the deputy, with the assistance of a bystander, had to carry him upon the train. At the San Quentin transfer he was lifted out in the same way, and when landed in the prison was taken at once to the hospital. It is not expected that he will live for many days.

"Hamilton is a wreck in more than one sense. In a few months he lost a profitable business, home and friends, and became a convict. There was very little in his miserable appearance yesterday to suggest the traits that possibly inspired the admiration and affection of even one woman. The figure itself was wrecked and contorted by disease, and the emaciated face was that of an ordinary type, with an almost bueless mustache covering the lips. His struggles at times were most violent, and death came very near relieving him more than once.

"Hamilton comes from Riverside, San Bernardino county. He is and has for years been suffering from most aggravating forms of asthma and heart disease. Several years ago he wooed, won and wedded a sister of Marshal Morse of Riverside. At that time Hamilton was a second-hand furniture dealer in prosperous circumstances, who had started life with fair prospects of it being a success. The woman whom he married had been divorced a short time before, but this did not prevent her and her husband from being very happy for several years. The trouble did not begin until Hamilton met a younger and prettier woman, who is connected with one of the best families in the county. He became enamored of the latter, and a few months ago deserted his wife for her. Two months after he left his wife he married his second charmer and set up another establishment within a short distance of where he and his first wife had lived for many years. His health had begun to fail, and although he was tenderly nursed by his second wife he began to decline rapidly. By some unaccountable means his two wives were in ignorance of each other's claim upon the same man, but a few months ago they both became cognizant of it and Hamilton was arrested.

"Neither of the injured women would appear against him, but the relatives of No. 2 took up the cudgel and prosecuted vigorously. Hamilton claimed that his marriage with his first wife was void, as she had never been divorced from her first husband. This, however, was disproved, and in order to escape a longer sentence, which in his feeble physical condition would prove fatal, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year in San Quentin. If he lives he will get out in 10 months."

Hamilton stopped over at the County Jail in this city a few hours on his way up, and at that time it was found that he would be unable to make the trip, as the journey from San Bernardino to Los Angeles had fatigued him very much. It is not believed by those who know him that he will ever finish his sentence.

Burroughs on Thoreau.

["Indoor Studies," by John Burroughs.]

In his moral and intellectual growth and experience Thoreau seems to have reacted strongly from a marked tendency to invalidism in his body. He would be well in spirits at all hazards. What was this never-ending search of his for the wild but a search for health, for something tonic and antiseptic in Nature? Health, health! Give me health, is his cry. He went forth into Nature as the boys go into the fields and woods in spring after wintergreens, black birch, crinkle root and sweet flag. He had an unappeasable hunger for the pungent, the aromatic, the bitter-sweet—for the very rind and salt of the globe. He fairly gnaws the ground and the trees in his walk, so craving is his appetite for the wild. He went to Walden to study, but it was as a deer goes to a deer-lick; the brine he was after did abound there. Any trait of wildness and freedom suddenly breaking out in any of the domestic animals, as when your cow leaped your fence like a deer and ate up your corn, or your horse forgot that he was not a mustang on the plains, and took the bit in his mouth, and left your buggy and family behind high and dry, etc., was eagerly snapped up by him. Ah, you have not tamed them, you have not broken them yet! He makes a most charming entry in his journal about a little boy he one day saw in the street, with a home-made cap on his head made of a woodchuck's skin. He seized upon it as a horse with a cribbit seizes upon a post. It tasted so good to him.

A Little Misunderstanding.

A gentleman from Indiana tells a story about Bayless W. Hanna, now United States Minister to the Argentine Republic, says the St. Louis Republic. Some months ago, at Buenos Ayres, a rich Spanish banker gave a dinner to some friends, and Mr. Hanna was seated on the right of the hostess. She inquired as to the health of Mrs. Hanna, who was not present, and asked how many children they had. Bayless, not understanding Spanish very well, thought she wanted to know the age of Mrs. Hanna, and said: "Forty-eight, madame." To his surprise the lady threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Gracios a Dios, que no tengo esposo Americano!" which, being translated is: "Thank God, I have not an American husband!" The next day the Spanish banker called on Mr. Hanna and said: "You astonished my wife yesterday when you told her you had 48 children." "Why, my dear sir," replied the minister, "I thought your wife inquired as to the age of Mrs. Hanna, and I gave her the 48 figure. I have only four children, and they are enough." The banker went home and gave his wife the benefit of Judge Hanna's statement, but the story got out, and the judge has to stand up and take the jokes of his friends.

Women Are Not Jokers.

[Washington Post.]

Women as a rule are not fond of jokes; they listen to clever stories with stimulated amusement, and forget them immediately. The reason for this lies in one of the essentials in the make-up of women—her profound and tender sympathy. Humor deals with the weakness of humanity; it exposes foibles and punctures tender skin. Humor sets the world laughing at some blunder of a man. It is woman nature to cover up, excuse and reform. Follies are too serious in her eyes to laugh at. If women were humorists they would not be the most earnest church workers, the most tender of nurses, and the most sentimental and refined portion of humanity. The same inherent quality which would make a true woman, a real woman, shrink as judge from pronouncing a death sentence, or as soldier from shooting an enemy through the heart, makes it impossible for her to become a humorist. Wit a woman may have, wit she does possess, and is a formidable adversary with her stiletto points of irony and satire. But humorous in the common acceptation of the term, in the careless, rollicking, stinging art of current quibs and jests—never.

"Yes; he's just got back from Oklahoma, you know. Poor fellow, he's a total wreck. I hardly knew him. One leg shot off, both arms broken, a big hole stove in the back of his head, one eye gouged out and his body filled with shot."

"Whew! that's bad. How did he come to get broke up that way?"

"He asked a hotel waiter for a napkin."

The Kansas Girl.

When it is remembered that the girl who cares for her looks takes a bath every night before going to bed, washes her teeth, brushes her hair back for 15 minutes, braids it in a long braid, puts up a dozen front and back frizzes, puts cold cream on her face, glycerine and old gloves on her hands, ammonia on her chigger bites, and says her prayers, the wonder is that she can ever go to bed at all.

Dr. Williams of Waycross, Ga., has a natural curiosity in the shape of a minnow with two distict heads. The Doctor was walking on the beach when he came to a pool of water. He naturally desired to see something of the inhabitants of the pool, and, after throwing some of the water out, he noticed this strange-looking fish. Picking it up he conveyed it to the pavilion, where it excited considerable surprise. It is a common-sized minnow, its body and tail being of usual shape and size. The two heads branch out from the body, and a peculiar thing is that the fish has four eyes.

After a very short stay the journey was resumed. A three-minute halt was made at Pomona, and the train arrived at Riverside on time, where the party proceeded at once to the Glenwood Hotel, and, without a moment's unnecessary delay, the Senators commenced taking testimony on the subject of irrigation.

S. E. Evans, president of the Riverside Water Company, was the first person called. He was questioned by Chairman Stewart, and his responses brought out the following points: The system of irrigation by the use of the water furnished by his company was briefly explained. Uncultivated land which, without water, was formerly worth but $3 to $5 per acre, is now worth with water $300 to $400 per acre, and when covered with bearing orange trees is worth from $750 to $2500 per acre. The work of cementing the ditches has been commenced, in order to avoid the seepage and loss from open ditches. It is a costly process, though productive of valuable results. Vineyard lands with vines from 4 to 6 years old produce a gross revenue of $100 per acre, and a net revenue of about $75 per acre. Full-bearing orange trees yield from $300 to $1250 per acre; young orange trees from $300 to $500 per acre. The cost of cultivation is estimated at $50 per acre per annum for the first three years. Four-year-old budded trees bear paying crops; seedlings bear at from 10 to 12 years. The Riverside Water Company's main canals and numerous lateral ditches were described. Aside from the semi-tropic fruits, barley is the principal crop grown; oats do not do well. Alfalfa on irrigated lands yields from 6 to 8 tons per acre in a season.

G. O. Newman, chief engineer of the water company, was next called. He is a German, and showed intelligence and readiness in his replies. The main supply of water comes from the Santa Ana River. In summer irrigation wells are resorted to, besides. The average available amount of water running in the company's ditches and flumes is 3200 inches daily, and 2000 inches are sold. It is equal to 640 cubic feet per second. There are 32 main canals and 150 miles of distributing ditches. Some progress has been made in the work of cementing the main canals. The process involves the use of 6 inches of stone and rubble masonry, then the cement is applied. The cost is about $2.75 per foot. The canals are 8 feet wide and 4 feet deep, and only about half a mile has so far been cemented, except the tunnel, 3300 feet long, which has all been cemented. The distribution of water is mainly in ditches. Some pipes are used. The loss from seepage and evaporation is about 15 per cent., more or less, as the ditches are dry or otherwise. In pipes the loss is estimated at not over 5 per cent. Mr. Newman estimated that one inch of water would irrigate three acres of ground. Senator Stewart called his attention to the fact that the water company's engineer at Ontario had said that one inch of water would serve 10 acres. Mr. Newman replied that that quantity would keep the trees alive, but would not produce fruit. Where the water is delivered in pipes, thus avoiding wastage, one inch will serve five acres.

About 25,000 acres are covered by the Riverside Water Company's system. In the artesian basin the water is rather low this summer. The practice of storing water is not resorted to at Riverside, though the Bear Valley affords facilities for such storage, and already furnishes some water (waste) for the use of Riverside lands. The chairman asked what is the cost of irrigating an acre of land by the ditch system, but the response did not furnish a specific answer. Mr. Newman produced the following interesting figures to show the percentage of water used in the different months: In January, 2 per cent.; in February, 1; in March, 2; in April 9; in May, 15; in June, 18; in July, 16; in August, 15; in September, 12; in October, 7; in November, 4; and in December 1 per cent. Under the system upon which the water company is now organized, the settlers practically own the water, paying enough for its use to keep up the expense of the corporation.

Mr. Evans here interposed an explanation. He explained that each acre of land, when sold, is provided with water stock, the purchaser buying the stock with the land. Two shares go with each acre. The owners of the land, owning the water stock, vote in the meetings of stockholders in proportion to their holdings. The charges for the use of water are to cover the company's expenses. Formerly the charge was 7½ cents per inch for 24 hours' flow; [illegible] per inch. The [illegible] made to provide for improvements.

Joseph [illegible] was the next gentleman to give testimony. He is an Arlington fruit-grower. In midsummer one inch of water will serve three acres of land. Much water goes to waste in winter for want of storage reservoirs. There is plenty of water to store if storage reservoirs were only provided. Ditches and flumes are principally used. The flume is the best of the two, as there is less evaporation, on account of the smaller surface exposed to solar evaporation. Results of the cultivation of land by irrigation show that orchards produce, net, $300 per acre in peaches; $150 in pears; $150 in raisin grapes; $300 in oranges; $350 in apricots. The witness was speaking of his own experience; he commenced planting 11 years ago. The best orange orchards yield $1100, $1000, $800 and $600 per acre, gross. The cost of cultivation he estimated at $50 to $60 per acre per annum, or $300 per acre up to the bearing point. The product of the fourth year will pay the running expenses. The value of a good cultivated orchard is that from $500 to $700 per acre. The same land, dry, is worth probably $250 per acre, if susceptible of irrigation, but not more than $10 per acre with no chance for irrigation. With water it is worth $250 to $400 per acre; with both water and orange trees, $500 to $700 or $800 per acre. First-class orange orchards have sold in Riverside for $2000 per acre. The life of an orange tree, according to some European authorities, is 100 years.

A. H. Naftzger was next invited to give testimony. He was asked as to the relative value of lands that can and cannot be irrigated, and replied that land that cannot be irrigated possesses practically no value whatever. Lands that have water upon them are worth $250 to $400 per acre.

Mathew Gage was introduced as the founder of the Gage system of canals. He said that five years ago he purchased 2400 acres of land in the Santa Ana River bottom, and bored artesian wells, varying from 100 to 500 feet in depth. He has a flow of 1700 inches of water in the dry season, and has constructed a canal to his lands, which lie east of Riverside. He has sold, with water rights, 3500 acres, and irrigates 5000 acres of his own. The estimated cost of putting in iron pipes is $12.50 per acre for large tracts. The size of the pipes is from four to eight inches, and they are coated with asphaltum and some other things, to preserve them from rust. There is no waste when pipes are used. One inch of water to five acres of land was Mr. Gage's estimate. He paid $1.25 per acre for his land, and has been selling it at from $300 to $600 per acre.

This closed the taking of testimony at Riverside, and the commission and their friends immediately took carriages for a drive through this typical and beautiful irrigation district, which evoked the high admiration of all the members of the party. Magnolia avenue was pursued into the Arlington district, and Mr. Lockwood's charming "Casa Blanca" was visited for a few minutes. Then the party drove straight to Casa Blanca Station, where the train was resumed and took up the return trip, via Colton and San Bernardino.

At San Bernardino lunch was taken at Stewart's Hotel, after which Senator Stewart was called upon for a speech, and responded; many citizens of the city having come into the hotel to meet [illegible]. The Senator entered [illegible] the broad subject which [illegible] charged it with investigating, and was listened to with the closest attention. Brevity of time cut him off in the very beginning of his speech, like the hoar-frost cutteth off the tender irrigated shoot, and, without taking any testimony, the party returned to the train and at once resumed the journey to this city, coming by the California Central in charge of Agent Williamson Dunn.

On the train the testimony of W. C. Butler, assistant engineer in the construction of the Bear Valley dam, was taken, and also that of G. W. Beattie, County Treasurer, who gave information as to the value and use of water, and the increase in the value of farming lands produced by its use.

No stop was made at Pasadena, as had been intended, and the train arrived at the Wolfskill depot about 6 o'clock in the evening. Here the Los Angeles committee, which had accompanied the Senatorial party during two days, bade them good by, after having committed them to the care of San Diego's representatives, Mayor Gunn, the Kimball brothers, T. S. Van Dyke and others, and the train moved off for San Diego, via the Surf line.

An evening session was to have been held at Santa Ana last night, and the party expect to reach San Diego this morning and spend today there.

LOS ANGELES TESTIMONY.

Some Facts Brought Out by the Committee Here.

The Senatorial Committee, in the testimony taken before it in the Board of Trade building, heard from some of the oldest and most practical irrigators on the coast. Among them was Señor Don Antonio F. Coronel, who has been a practical irrigator for 55 years. He was born in the City of Mexico, and came to Southern California in 1834. He practiced irrigation in Mexico before he came to the State. Irrigation was first established by the mission fathers, and the same laws of irrigation are followed now that were then. He believed that irrigation could reclaim a large proportion of the arid lands in this country.

H. W. Patton, Register of the United States Land Office, was examined and referred to the comprehensive statement heretofore published, in which the acreage of arid lands is given in the district. He believed that irrigation and the storage of water would reclaim a large part of the 13,150,000 acres now parched and known as desert land.

Judge B. S. Eaton, a practical irrigator for many years, was decidedly of the opinion that by storage a vast area of arid land can be reclaimed. He spoke of the benefits of irrigation as observed by him, and together with George H. Peck and J. de Barth Shorb believed that irrigation can be made effectual in Antelope Valley, the Mojave and the Colorado sections.

Senator Stewart's questions were very pointed, and went directly to the bottom of the matter. Both he and Senator Reagan seemed to be much pleased with the information elicited.

SUNDAY LAW.

THREE ROUSING MEETINGS HELD YESTERDAY.

The Good People Are Determined to Close Up All Business Places on Sunday—Organizing Committees and Arranging for the Battle.

The Sunday-law convention met yesterday morning in the Fort-street Methodist Church. Judge J. W. Cochran was chosen presiding officer and A. M. Armour secretary. The attendance was large.

Judge Cochran, on taking the chair, referred to the history of Sunday-law legislation in California, and said that it was a notable fact that the late David S. Terry wrote the opinion of the State Supreme Court in 1858, whereby a majority of the Justices declared it unconstitutional, and Justice Field at that time filed a dissenting opinion. In 1861 the decision was reversed and stood until six years ago.

Rev. Mr. Hutchins spoke upon the necessity of securing adequate Sunday laws, and believed that the country must be held together by virtue and not despotism.

E. S. Field said that the question of Sunday observance is a question of conscience and conduct, and it is proposed by law to restrain those who seem to have no conscience to such an extent as is necessary for the best good of all. He believed the observance of the Sabbath means that form which best serves to develop men physically, mentally and morally.

Rev. A. C. Williams spoke about "Sunday Rest and Workingmen," and said that one day of rest in seven is necessary, because based upon the requirements of human nature. He thought men can accomplish more by resting one day in seven than by working straight along.

Rev. Mr. Dinsmore was opposed to Sunday excursions to the seashore, believing that they do not give rest to those who go upon them.

Rev. E. R. Brainerd referred to the appeal of Vanderbilt's engineers that they were growing prematurely old for lack of rest as a piteous appeal. He said that this movement is not a religious but a civil-law movement.

There were several other speakers, and the convention took a recess until 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON MEETING.

Yesterday afternoon those interested in the Sunday-law movement met at the Fort-street Methodist Church. There were a large number of ladies present, and the afternoon was principally devoted to a discussion of the Sunday newspaper. Several of the speakers on the programme were not present, but the time was very well taken up by those who responded when their names were called.

An eloquent plea for the American Sabbath was made by the Rev. Du Bois. He has a peculiarly fluent use of language, and addressed himself mainly to the civil portion of the subject.

A committee for the organization of the work of pushing the ideas of the convention, was announced. It consisted of persons from a number of towns in the county.

Rev. Mrs. Ridges, pastor of the Congregational Church in the East Side, spoke at length on the Sunday newspaper. She was of the opinion that the press of Los Angeles, without exception, is too filthy to be tolerated any longer, and that the people should rise up en masse and suppress the Sunday editions. She said that there are absolutely corrupt and vile, and should never be taken into any homes. The speaker was very dogmatic and sweeping in her intolerant denunciation of Sunday newspapers. She claimed that they are altogether pernicious, and begged her auditors to hereafter leave the Sunday newspaper on the porch without looking at it.

Rev. Mr. Heisler also spoke upon the Sunday newspaper. He was not so sweeping in his remarks, and based his opposition to it on the ground that it necessitates the labor of many persons on the Sabbath, who should have the privilege of keeping the day as a day of rest.

There were some other remarks by speakers in the line of support of the movement, and at 4 o'clock the meeting adjourned until night, and to permit the committee to meet and formulate a plan of action.

During the meeting cards were circulated in the audience for signatures to the membership of the union, and quite a number were obtained.

EVENING SESSION.

The Pavilion last night was well filled with an attentive audience, who listened to the closing exercises of the convention. Judge Cochran made some appropriate introductory remarks, after which the secretary read a series of resolutions framed by the committee. The resolutions indorsed President Harrison's stand as a Christian gentleman, the stand taken by Postmaster-General Wanamaker in reducing the hours of work on Sunday, and urged the City Council to close the saloons on Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Thompson then spoke upon the necessity for sinews of war to carry on the work, and had a collection taken up by the ushers.

Jesse Butler made quite a speech upon the necessity of a day of rest from the workingman's standpoint, and Mr. Crafts followed with an eloquent address, in which he repeated the important points which he wished his hearers to carry home with them.

THEY RESOLVE.

The committee, appointed in the afternoon to draft resolutions, made the following report last night:

First—That we heartily approve President Harrison's proclamation against Sunday work in our army and navy, and commend this example of the national corporation, through its chief officer, to the imitation of other corporations and employers, that their employés may be protected in their natural right to the weekly rest day, and in their rights of conscience.

Second—That we cordially commend the action already taken by Hon. John Wanamaker, our Postmaster-General, in reducing Sunday work in the postal service, and will support him in further reforms in this direction.

Third—That we hail as a "report of progress" the recent reductions of Sunday work by numerous railroads, which together have emancipated many thousands from Sunday slavery, by taking off Sunday freights, Sunday excursions and Sunday newspaper trains; and we ask these railroad companies and all railroad owners and officials to coöperate with those who are petitioning Congress to remove the chief obstacle to the complete suspension of Sunday trains, by stopping all Sunday work (except of necessity and mercy) in interstate commerce and in the postal service.

Fourth—That we indorse the petition to Congress for a law against Sunday work in the mail and military service of the Government, and in interstate commerce, and in the District of Columbia and the Territories, with the usual exceptions for works of mercy and necessity, and for those who religiously observe another day of the week.

Fifth—That we join the California Sabbath Association in calling all true Americans in this State, whether Americans by birth or by adoption, to enter at once upon a vigorous campaign, with a view to securing from the next Legislature a Sunday law, and thus to remove from our State the shame of being the only State in the civilized world, except France, without a Sunday law.

Sixth—That we respectfully, but earnestly, call upon our City Council to pass an ordinance for the Sunday closing of saloons, and so far as the law allows of other places of amusement, trade and labor also; with the usual exception for works of real necessity and mercy, and for private work by those who observe another day.

Seventh—That we invite our Roman Catholic fellow-citizens and other citizens of Los Angeles, who are not connected with this association, to join this association in constituting a citizens' committee on Sunday closing on such a basis as may be mutually agreed upon.

Eighth—That we express our grateful appreciation of the eloquent addresses and the efficient organizing leadership of our brother, Rev. Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, field secretary of the American Sabbath Union, also of the work of our State secretary, Rev. Edward Thomson, D.D., in his admirable preparations for this convention, and to the committees and officers of the Y.M.C.A. who have so heartily coöperated with him. We would recognize our indebtedness to the W.C.T.U. for their labors abundant in behalf of our cause, throughout the State. We would also express our cordial thanks to the Fort-street Methodist Church, for the use of its building, and to the press for excellent reports of the meetings.

The report was unanimously adopted.

THE SPORTING WORLD.

A Notable Improvement in Fast Horses.

The first meeting of the New York Jockey Club, at Westchester Park, ended on Saturday last, and with it is inaugurated a new era in American racing. Taken, as is the whole system, from that in vogue in England, where the rules and regulations in force for the government of the turf are the outcome of 200 years' experience, it seems strange that the New York club should be the first in the United States to present for popular approval, that essential groundwork for consistent form, a straight, natural course. Horses, like men, have different natural characteristics, and whilst the formation of one is conducive to great excellence on a dead level course, another may be at his best when ascending an incline, and yet another in descending a moderate hill. Their straight six furlongs is undoubtedly the best of its kind in America, and the result of their enterprise has been that the half mile, five-eighths of a mile and three-fourths of a mile records have been lowered to a notch which, five years ago, would have been deemed unattainable.

On Saturday last the first race of the day, a five-eighths of a mile dash, was won by Britannic, who, with 122 pounds on his back, covered the distance in 59 seconds, lowering the record a full second.

The White Plains handicap, for 2-year-olds, with $5000 added, was won by El Rio Rey, who, handicapped to carry 126 pounds, ran the three-quarters of a mile in the extraordinarily fast time of 1:11.

When it is remembered that up to a month ago the record for this distance was 1:13, the significance of this performance becomes more marked, and that a Californian 2-year-old should be the hero of it, places the Golden State in the front rank as a breeding ground for the thoroughbred.

At the present moment El Rio Rey, by Norfolk out of Marion, the latter by Malcolm, bred by and the property of Mr. Theodore Winters, is undoubtedly the greatest 2-year-old in the world. How good he really is it is difficult to surmise, as although he was giving away weight to every horse in the race, and, moreover, was by no means well placed by Winchell, he yet won easily at the finish.

The history of El Rio Rey is a striking commentary upon the timidity of racing men, as there is hardly a prominent turfman on the Pacific Coast who could not have secured the son of Norfolk at an extremely moderate figure. Blood will tell, and whilst a good deal of surprise has been expressed in America at the craze in English racing circles to secure at any cost representatives of fashionable blood, the Norfolk family is a striking example of how excellence will run in a particular line. Witness the Emperor of Norfolk, The Czar and El Rio Rey.

J. C. Robinson has secured breeding quarters adjoining the famous Rosemeade ranch, and is going in for the business extensively. The following stock purchased by him in the East has arrived, and will form the nucleus of his racing stud: Lady Coates, by Kentucky Prince; Miss Patchen, by Mambrino Patchen; Gale, by Commodore Belmont; Betsy Her, by Mambrino Patchen; Gray Diana, by Administrator; a yearling filly by Red Wilkes; filly by Endymion; a yearling filly by Doncaster; colt by Wilton; filly by Aberdeen, and a filly by Red Wilkes.

Mr. Robinson has selected from the best trotting strains in America, and his enterprise can hardly fail of success.

A JOHNSTOWN MAN.

His Female Nurse and their Queer Little Ways.

Yesterday morning the proprietress of the Occidental lodging-house, at the corner of East First and Geary streets, came to the police station to enter complaint against a man named C. C. Chatham, who, she said, was an impostor and a swindler. Chatham, she said, came to her house some days ago and engaged a room, saying that he had just come out from Johnstown, Pa., where he had lost several members of his family in the great disaster at that place. He asked permission to move a piano into his room, which was granted, and in due course of time he took up his lodgings there. Chatham appeared to be in delicate health, and several days ago he brought a Spanish woman to the house to nurse him. The woman said that her name was Mrs. Otto, and that she was a professional nurse. She had not been in the house long before they began to quarrel and finally got so bad that it caused comment in the house, and she informed Chatham that the woman would have to go, and that if he needed a nurse she would provide him with one. He did not seem to be much pleased with this, and yesterday morning quietly made off, leaving a rent bill of $10 due her, besides a rather heavy bill at the saloon and restaurant opposite her house. After he left the woman came, and wanted to remain until he returned, but she would not permit this, so she took her departure, since which time she had seen neither one of them, nor did she know where they had gone. During the afternoon Day & Hart sent a wagon, and took the piano away, saying that there was a month's rent due on it.

Chatham claims to be a high Mason and a Grand Officer in the Order of the Golden Eagle, and is a pretty smooth worker. A description of the man was left at police headquarters, and the officers were instructed to keep a close lookout for him, as a warrant will probably be issued for his arrest on a charge of swindling.

PASADENA NEWS.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY ENLIVENS THINGS.

Two Broken Vehicles—The Senate Committee—Local Intelligence—Condensed Budget—A Vag Pulled In—Personal Mention.

PASADENA, Sept. 2.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] An exciting runaway, which caused a great deal of commotion, occurred on East Colorado street, near Fair Oaks avenue, this morning. At 10 o'clock a young horse, hitched to a light vehicle, dashed down Fair Oaks avenue, and, turning into Colorado, pitched into a horse and buggy, which had been left standing in front of Stevens's hardware store. For a time all was confusion, but a number of by-standers came to the rescue and extricated the runaway animal by cutting the harness. The shaft of the light vehicle was snapped in two and a wheel taken off the buggy. The runaway horse belonged to one Twinting and the horse and buggy to Mr. Ladoux.

A VAG PULLED IN.

A drunk, who gloried in the name of Frank James, and who claimed to be a brother of the once noted bandit Jesse James, has been around town for several days "doing up" small boys to the tune of 25 cents by giving exhibitions of sleight-of-hand performances. This afternoon he was found drunk on the streets and arrested as a vagrant. Officer Robbins and Marshal McLean brought him before Justice Van Doren, who committed him to the County Jail for ten days. For his profanity his sentence was doubled. He gave his name as Woods.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Board of Trade meets in regular monthly session tomorrow.

The large chuckhole on East Colorado street, in front of the Fish block, has been filled in.

A pair of broncos left untied on East Colorado street this afternoon took it into their heads to run away, and finally wound up in Frost's livery stable.

The military company met for drill in Gilchrist Hall this evening. The attendance was good.

The Grand Opera-house opens one week from tonight with Margaret Mather, if a sufficient number of seats can be sold.

Another moonlight excursion to Mount Wilson is announced for Saturday evening.

A number of young men are making preparations to attend the civil-service examination in Los Angeles next month.

Sewer-work commences tomorrow on North Marengo avenue. Trenches will be dug and the pipe laid only as far north as Walnut street. Work in a few days will be suspended indefinitely.

A very merry party composed of Mrs. Ella Black, the Misses Anna Smith, Callie Black, Laura Smith, Carrie and Florence Chapman and Dr. Smith returned this morning from a month's stay at Santa Monica.

Lippincott & Son were summoned to Monrovia this morning to take charge of the remains of Mrs. C. W. Barnes, who died of an abscess last evening. She was in her 35th year and was buried this afternoon.

THE SENATORS.

The Senate Committee on Arid Lands and Irrigation passed through the city in a special train at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Owing to the fact that the Senators were scheduled to arrive in San Diego this evening no stop off was made at this place. A number of citizens with carriages went to Lamanda Park to meet the delegation to show them through the garden, but owing to a countermand of the message failed to meet them. The Senators indeed lost a ride through a beautiful and attractive tropical garden.

CONDENSED BUDGET.

Five of the local wheelmen took a run to Monrovia yesterday morning, reaching home at 6 o'clock. Dinner was partaken of at the Grand View Hotel.

The committee appointed to obtain the signatures of the taxpayers and patrons of the San Pascual school district are hard at work. Holder, Buchanan and Spaulding will be the trustees for the next school year without a doubt.

A very beautiful view of the mountains was obtained this evening. The clear outline seemed to show up very distinctly for the benefit of the Senate Committee. Indeed, the mountains looked three miles nearer the city.

The injunction suit brought by the Wotkyns Bros., restraining the Cross railroad from crossing their property in South Pasadena, came up for a hearing today, but was postponed for three weeks, owing to the illness of Judge Hatch, attorney for Capt. John Cross.

TIE AND TRACK.

Changes in the Management of the Santa Fe.

During the next few weeks many changes may take place in the management of the Santa Fé road. President Strong's resignation will go into effect on the 9th inst., and his successor, Allen Manvel, will take charge on the same day.

Mr. Strong became president of the company in 1881. At that time it had only 787 miles of road, and now the mileage of the entire system is 7750. When he took possession the company's stock was quoted at 8½ and it has since risen to 50. From 1877 until 1881 he was vice-president and general manager of the Atchison, and prior to the former date he was for a number of years general superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. He said he had formed no definite plans for the future and would not trouble himself about that for awhile.

Allen Manvel, who succeeds William B. Strong in the presidency of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé system, was born in Rochester, Genesee county, N. Y., September 26, 1837, and is therefore 52 years old. With a good education and fine business talents, he entered upon the railroad business in 1859, when he was but 22 years of age, beginning in the service of the Rock Island, and being successively clerk in the purchasing agent's office, paymaster, purchasing agent, assistant superintendent and assistant general superintendent. He continued in the employ of the Rock Island until May 3, 1881, when he left that road to become assistant general manager and general superintendent of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway. So well did he perform the arduous duties imposed upon him that November 1st of the same year he was elevated to the position of general manager of the road, and has conducted its affairs with remarkable ability.

No one seems to know why Mr. Strong has resigned. He has always given satisfaction to the owners of the road, and that he has done good work no one who has any knowledge of the workings of the system can deny.

The work of cutting down the local force in this city has already commenced. Yesterday four of the men in the freight department were let out, and it is believed that this is only the beginning.

President Manvel will probably visit the coast in a few weeks, when other changes in the general management of the California lines will take place.

The rumors to the effect that the Southern Pacific wants the Santa Fé lines in California are without foundation, as that company has all it can handle now, and the owners of the Santa Fé are perfectly able to take care of their property. All they want is to see the system pay running expenses, and they will make it do that, but they will not sell their stock.

A big Santa Fé excursion is due here from Chicago and Kansas City today.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Opening Under the New Management.

The Public Library was opened yesterday morning for the first time in its new quarters in the City Hall, and during the entire day a throng of visitors, numbering at least a thousand people, must have passed through the elegant rooms. But one sentiment was expressed by everybody and that was in admiration of the arrangements made for the convenience and comfort of the people. The furniture and appointments were extolled for their elegant simplicity and substantial character. It is evident that the money has been dispersed with a wise economy, having in view the lasting character of the institution.

Among the throng of visitors were a number who registered their names as members, and by night 45 new names had been added to the permanent roll.

During the day upwards of 200 books were issued by the Librarian, and there seems to be no doubt that the average will be maintained at about that figure and may soon be largely increased.

The rules and regulations for the use of members are printed, and can be had by any one on application to the Librarian.

The Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday in regular session, and transacted the following business:

F. M. Vanderlip, Justice of the Peace, of Pasadena, was granted leave of absence for 20 days.

A number of warrants were ordered canceled.

There were no bids in the matter of the Soledad school bonds, and it was indefinitely postponed, subject to bids at any time.

The chairman was appointed a committee to attend to the arranging of the old maps in the Assessor's office.

On motion of Supervisor Davis, the pay of all copyists in the Tax Collector's office was ordered reduced, after September 2d, to $75 a month.

Adjourned until this morning.

New Suits.

Suit was begun yesterday by Herman W. Hellman, Abram Haas and Jacob Baruch vs. W. E. Rogers on a promissory note, to recover judgment for $3216.93 and interest.

Ira W. Phelps began suit against Lily A. Barclay to recover judgment for $2000 and foreclose a mortgage securing the amount involved.

Suit was begun by the Savings Bank of Southern California vs. Lewis Becker and A. Haas on a promissory note, to recover judgment for $2271.70, and foreclosure of mortgage securing the same.

A foreclosure suit was begun by the Schallert-Ganahl Company vs. H. E. Sheldon for $2166.90.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

A Card of Thanks.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Will you be so good as to permit me, through the medium of your columns, to publicly express our grateful acknowledgment of the valuable assistance so promptly and opportunely rendered the Los Angeles Cable Railway Company, during the sudden and unexpected storm of Saturday, by Chief Strohm and his staff.

Owing to the enormous volume of water, which from all points poured in our Grand-avenue engine-house, we would, without the aid of the fire department, have been utterly unable to operate our cable lines last night, thus causing great inconvenience to a large portion of the public.

J. C. ROBINSON, Superintendent.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of the architects of Los Angeles the following resolutions were adopted, ordered published and a copy thereof to be presented to the widow and father of the late brother S. A. J. Preston.

Resolved, that in the death of our coworker and fellow architect, S. A. J. Preston, the profession of architecture has lost a member whose place will be hard to fill, and the profession in Los Angeles and this southern country in particular has cause to regret his demise. His early age, but 31 years, his acquirements and abilities, make his loss our loss. His enthusiasm, energy and efforts for the honorable elevation of his chosen profession receive our most earnest approbation, and it is our hearty wish that his bright example may be followed by others. He was one of the younger generation who have received a regular professional training that fitted him to compete with the new problems in architecture which are becoming more complex each year and requiring a man to keep thoroughly abreast of the times. This, with his enthusiasm and laudable desire for the honorable elevation of the profession in its practice and amongst its fellows, cause his loss to not only affect his profession but the public at large.

Resolved, that our sympathy be extended to the relatives and friends and particularly to the young widow of our deceased fellow, and to his father, whose companion and fellow-worker he has been, and may they be enabled to bear up under their great loss, remembering that we must all sooner or later join that "great majority." (Signed)

O. MORGAN, Chairman.

BRONCHITIS.

Acute Bronchitis.

This is an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of all the pulmonary diseases. It is a dangerous disease, as it prevents the oxygenation of the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved, giving rise to what is very properly called bronchial consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheezing, severe cough and expectoration. This is at first a white glairy mucus, which after a time becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great, and the skin is clammy and prostration rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.

Chronic Bronchitis.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the mucous membrane of bronchial tubes. But this form more often occurs later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis it usually passes off as a cold in the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath, with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucous, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs, or chronic bronchitis.

In the latter stages of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucous membrane becomes congested and inflamed. There are no cavities or tubercles in the lungs, but merely wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucous, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take cold, at which time the mucous becomes clear and frothy, and it is not uncommonly the case that the patient dies in one of these attacks.

Inhalation is the only system which will cure these diseases, and yet the treatment of the two forms are entirely different. In the one we must allay the irritation, while in the other we must stimulate a healthy action.

This will convince us of the necessity of fully understanding the system of Medicated Inhalations in the treatment of the various diseases of the pulmonary organs, for when properly applied there is no system of medicine to be compared to it.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance from business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless, unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing can do with the same success.

The very best reference from those already cured.

CITY IN BRIEF.

Ben Ward is not going East as was stated the other day.

The First Congregational Church has donated $10,000 to the Central Baptist Church.

Wells Hendershott was admitted to practice by Judge Cheney yesterday, upon motion of Deputy District Attorney Hardesty.

The Nationalist Club adopted a constitution and by-laws, but postponed the election of officers until Sunday next, immediately after the public meeting.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office for W. G. Harvie, Mrs. Cornelius Nichols, C. G. Huntington, Nathan P. Roberts, Manuel Ordoqui.

The property-holders on Lake Shore avenue are getting up a protest against the grading of that highway, Diamond and Home streets. The petition is signed by a dozen property-owners.

Company F, Seventh Regiment, N. G.C., gave a successful "at home" in Armory Hall last night. There were a number of invited guests present, and dancing was kept up until a late hour.

Today will be a field day in Department No. 1 of the Superior Court as far as arraignments go. Those set for the day are A. A. Montaño, Henry Edelman, B. W. Edelman, John Ellingsworth, Peter Savage and John Luis Lopez.

The T. J. Cuddy perjury indictment came up before Judge Ross yesterday in the United States District Court, and he overruled the demurrer made by defendant's counsel. The demurrer was addressed to the jurisdiction of the Court in the matter, and the Court held that the indictment was sufficient.

Yesterday the following people left for the north on the 1:30 p.m. train: Milton Thomas, Miss Fisher, Gov. R. W. Waterman, J. H. Haney, Mrs. Wolfskill, J. R. Davis, D. Harris, Al Jenks, G. B. Dewey, Mrs. Silent, H. C. Dibble, W. G. Waterman, Annie L. Harding, A. L. Bailache, Mr. Schreiber.

A horse attached to the butcher shop of Martin & Mitchell, who are in business at the corner of Fifth and Spring streets, ran away yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, smashing the wagon and throwing out Mr. Martin, who was badly bruised, but not seriously injured. The accident happened at the corner of Sixth and Pearl streets.

Yesterday afternoon, shortly after 1 o'clock, a fire alarm was turned in, caused by the burning of a lot of rubbish in the storehouse of the Golden Rule Produce Company, near the corner of First and Main streets. One of the employés had unwrapped a lot of hams and threw the greasy paper in a pile on the floor, where some one dropped the end of a cigarette into it, causing it to ignite. The fire engines turned out, but there was no need for their services, the flames being extinguished with only a nominal loss.

Guadaloupe Ravalende, an old Spanish shoemaker, and Mary Roe were arrested by Officer Manning on a warrant, yesterday, charging them with disturbing the peace. The woman went to the old man's shop to have some work done, when they got drunk, and both were brought to the police station. The woman's husband, who is apparently an honest, hard-working man, came to the station last night to see his wife, but as he did not have the money to put up bail for her, she was compelled to remain locked up. The case will come up for examination today.

ADMISSION DAY.

Preparations for Its Celebration by the N.S.G.W.

The Native Sons of the Golden West are making extensive preparation to celebrate the thirty-ninth anniversary of the admission of California. They have secured Turnverein Hall for the 9th inst.—next Monday evening—where the festivities will be held. Short addresses appropriate to the occasion will be delivered by Hon. Henry T. Hazard, Hon. Stephen M. White, Col. J. J. Ayers and Hon. R. F. del Valle. The Native Daughters are at present busily engaged decorating the hall with pictures and historical scenes typical of California in the days of '49. A fine musical programme has been arranged by J. H. Brenner, and some of the best musical talent has been secured. The California pioneers have signified their intention to be present in a body, and the affair promises to surpass anything of the kind ever held under the auspices of the Native Sons. Dancing will conclude the festivities.

THE SCOTT CASE.

The Le Brun Brothers Tell What They Know About the Matter.

The Scott trial dragged its weary length yesterday, and the prosecution had not finished its testimony up to the usual adjournment for the day.

Pierre le Brun, the former associate of Annie le Brun, who was murdered, presumably, by the defendant, Charles Scott, was on the stand for cross-examination a good portion of the day, and seemed to give a straight story of his connection with the woman. He showed letters from her, in which she spoke of trouble she was having with Scott, and asking him to take her back. Pierre le Brun's brother was also on the stand, and the evidence showed very clearly that Pierre was not in Los Angeles when the murder was committed. The evidence of the Le Bruns was not given upon the first trial of the defendant, and it is regarded as strengthening the prosecution considerably.

United States Man-of-war Charleston.

The crew, led by an officer, mutinied when off San Pedro, threatened to disable the ship and murder the officers. The ringleader was shot and several wounded. One of the crew stated that the cause of the trouble was a desire on the part of the crew to see Colton's Furniture Exchange, 202 South Spring street, and only death would prevent them.

PEOPLE'S STORE.

YESTERDAY'S IMMENSE CROWD HAS NO EQUAL.

Our Supply, That Was Expected to Last All Day, Was Nearly Consumed by Noon—Our Future Plans.

PEOPLE'S STORE,
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3, 1889.

Six o'clock yesterday evening saw the doors close upon a lot of tired and worn-out salespeople, having been besieged all day by the largest concourse of patrons ever in any one store in Los Angeles.

At 8:30 when our doors opened, not a spare inch of standing room was unoccupied. The best of humor was observed, and our patrons were indeed praiseworthy for their patience and endurance. That the values were vast, that the display was inviting, that the people snapped up the bargains can be clearly attested to, when it is known that our supply intended for an all-day sale was nigh depleted by noon. It goes to show that our method of buying and selling is the proper one, and is appreciated by the public of Los Angeles, who by their presence in such vast numbers show their approbation, and urge us on to do better, greater and more daring deeds.

Step by step we are feeling our way toward methods of popularity. Step by step we are testing the pulse of the public, in order to be able to better cater to its wants, to be able to grant their desires.

Each time after such an ovation as was given us yesterday, we feel as though we are gradually outgrowing our space. We need more room, we need more domain to spread our establishment, for the public demands it, the supporters of low prices ask for it, and we will never rest till we are able to spread the light of true and proper values before our patrons, the citizens of Los Angeles.
